

ABSTRACT

5 A plastic tube container with a lid includes a tube body, a tube head and a lid. The tube head is integrally joined to the top of the tube body with an opening thereof being covered by the lid. The tube body is made of soft plastics and the tube head can be made of hard plastics or soft plastics. The receiving space of the tube head straightforward communicates the containing space of the 10 tube body. Further the lid can have an operating point to be arranged at a desirable position for being operated easily with a hand.